This bulletin keeps you up-to-date with the latest news and developments relating to the European Direct Information Centre for the Black Country.

View this email in your browser

What is a Europe Direct Information Centre (EDIC)?

EDICs are a network of information and documentation centres with speakers in every European Union (EU) country. You can contact your local EDIC in any official EU language for answers to questions on your EU rights and funding, and receive invitations to local EU information or networking events and EU documents.

Please click here for more information.

EDIC Event During Black Country Business Festival

On April 26th, the Black Country Chamber of Commerce will be holding a specific Brexit-related event. Following the news that the Chamber is now the EDIC for the Black Country, this event will cover a range of issues, including future immigration policy, the rights of EU nationals in the UK and future trading relationships with the EU.

Please click here to register your interest in this event.

British Chambers of Commerce: Clarity Around Post-Brexit Immigration System Needed

Dr. Adam Marshall, Director-General of the British Chambers of Commerce, has urged Government to provide clarity for UK businesses on a post-Brexit immigration policy. Recent business surveys at both regional and national levels have shown staff recruitment difficulties to be at severe levels. Dr. Marshall has warned that British businesses cannot make plans for the next few years without concrete policy decisions from Westminster.

Please click here to read the full article.

Johnson Sets Out Policy For 'Liberal Brexit' in First 'Roadmap to Brexit' Speech

On February 14th, Boris Johnson outlined the 'liberal case' for Brexit.

Johnson said that holding another referendum on Britain's membership of the EU would lead to "permanent and ineradicable feelings of betrayal".

His speech, at the Policy Exchange think-tank, is the first in a series of speeches from British politicians that will set out the road to Brexit.

Please click here to read the full article.

Prime Minister May and Taoiseach Varadkar Meet to Discuss Irish Border

Theresa May recently met with Irish Taoiseach Leo Varadkar to discuss the challenging issues surrounding Brexit and specifically how to avoid a hard border with the Republic of Ireland. The talks centred around a free-trade deal that would mean Northern Ireland join the rest of the UK in leaving the Customs Union and Single Market.

Please click here to read the full article.